

You Are Invited to

GATHERING: People, their Minds, and their Fields is designed to be a social, educational, and fund-raising event that features a harvest tasting of locally-produced wine, beer, and non-alcoholic beverages, and small plate/tap as entrees of fresh, locally-grown produce and meats.

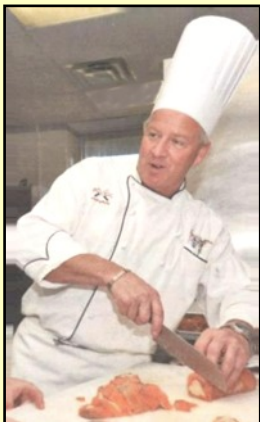

Meet and network within the context of the event's mingling activities • enjoy the company of like-minded people • acquire sufficient information to pursue further contact and collaboration with the attendees of the event • sample and taste the goodness of the fields • appreciate and value the advantages of local, green, and farm-fresh foods and beverages • understand the mission and vision of the River Raisin Institute.

The River Raisin Institute, a non-profit environmental education organization, is sponsoring the Gathering 2011.

This event is October 1, 2011 from 5:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Monroe Community College Cafeteria, Raisinville Rd.

The cost is $25.

The event will allow you to taste naturally locally grown food and beverages prepared by local chefs. You also have the opportunity for social networking and be able to participate in learning activities relating to the above topics.

Besides enjoying a creative plate prepared by the Culinary Arts department guided by Chef Kevin Thomas, the Gathering will include a silent auction, an informative DVD, Green Mapping, Music selections and other activities.

For tickets and more information about the GATHERING, please call Sharon Venier, 734-240-9754 at SSIHM